UN Moves To Implement Korean Peace

SEVENTH POST ON COMMISSION OFFERED INDIA

By STANLEY JOHNSON

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The United Nations moved full steam ahead today to put into effect an American-backed plan for the future of war-torn Korea.

The plan, which grants tacit permission for UN forces to cross the 38th parallel, won 47 to 5 approval in the 60-nation political committee Wednesday night.

There were seven abstentions. Only the Soviet bloc—which supported a rival resolution—voted against the proposal.

Fears Shuffled Off. Supporters of the proposal shrugged off fears that the Chinese Communists may intervene in the Korean war because UN military occupation of North Korea will be necessary to enforce its decisions.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson told a news conference that any group looking to the world for recognition and for admission to the UN would hesitate to challenge UN principles. Communist China is fighting for the UN seat now held by Nationalist China.

The peace plan—sponsored by Britain, Australia, Brazil, Cuba, The Netherlands, Norway, Pakistan and the Philippines—has four main aims: They are:

1. Action—including holding of elections under auspices of the UN—for establishing a unified, independent and democratic Korea.

2. UN forces should not remain in any part of Korea longer than necessary to achieve this united government. This was taken to mean that those forces could pursue North Korean aggressors anywhere in the country north or south of the 38th parallel.

3. Economic rehabilitation of Korea. Supporting delegations hope Korea will be "pilot project" to show what the UN can do in this line.

4. A new UN commission of seven members to see that the plan's provisions are carried out.

Six members of this watch-dog committee already have been named.

New Rail Talks Expected Preface To Wage Demands

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Exploratory talks between the railroads and firemen's and engineers' unions were looked upon today as the first ripple of a new wave of wage demands for 1,250,000 railworkers.

The Brotherhood of Firemen and Engineers headed by David J. Robertson, and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers led by J. B. Shields, were set to start talks with railroad negotiators on their delayed demands.

Firemen and engineers want a 40-hour work week for 48 hours pay. Engineers reportedly are seeking a 20 per cent pay boost.

After today's preliminary talks, the trainmen and the conductors' unions are expected to follow increases already made in the price of materials.

Under the old contract, the average hourly wage was approximately $1.64. The new contract provides a boost of 8 cents an hour for employees paid $1.24 or less and six per cent for those paid $1.25 or more.

The new agreement will be in effect until Aug. 22, 1952, with a provision for re-opening on wages next August.

The new agreement was announced by the management of Lockheed Aircraft Corp., which employs 12,000 and Lockheed 727 of the International Association of Machinists. The wage increases will cost the company about $2,500,000 a year. The old contract had almost a year to run.

Cyril Cahappell, company vice president, and John Snider, union president, said in a joint statement: "We recognize the effect of changed economic conditions since fighting began in Korea and the higher consumer prices that are expected to follow increases already made in the price of materials."

Jack - Knifed Tank Car Wrecks Flying Passenger Train

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 5.—(AP)—A New York Central Railroad flying passenger train was wrecked today when a tank car carrying a flammable liquid exploded, setting off an explosion which rocked the train.

Between 40 and 50 were injured but none was burned although flames from the burning tanker leaped high into the air and lapped at some of the cars on the palatial westbound New England States Express.

Lockhead Cancels Worker Contract To Give Pay Hike

BURBANK, Calif., Oct. 5.—(AP)—An aircraft company contract that did not have a wage re-opening clause has been scrapped because of "changed economic conditions" and the employees have been given wage increases averaging 10 cents an hour.

The new agreement was announced by the management of Lockheed Aircraft Corp., which employs 12,000 and Lockheed 727 of the International Association of Machinists. The wage increases will cost the company about $2,500,000 a year. The old contract had almost a year to run.

Red Demonstrators Halt Rail Traffic

By RICHARD O'REGAN

VIENNA, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Communist demonstrators halted all rail traffic into and out of Vienna for three hours today. Tracks on the East-West rail from the American occupation zone into Vienna were the first ones cleared of road blocks and traffic resumed.

A flying squad of several hundred Communists piled railway ties across the tracks of that line at St. Uoelten. In the Russian zone, west of Vienna. Other lines were blocked the same way and the Communists stood guard over the barricades at many points.

Strike Is Failure. Crowds of shouting Communists apparently angry over the failure of their general strike call Wednesday initiated blockade of both rail and road traffic at St. Poelten in the Russian zone. This halted western rail traffic running into Vienna's western station was cut at Brunnensdorf, between Vienna and the Russian military headquarters at Baden, 20 miles south of the capital.

An American, Curtis T. Ettlinger of Scarsdale, N. Y., reported the Communists had set up three road blocks at St. Poelten on the highway to Vienna.

Negro Prisoner Escapes After Hitting Sheriff

A negro prisoner struck Sheriff Homer Robertson of Fairfield on the head with a brick and escaped from the Fairfield county jail Wednesday night, according to local officers and The Associated Press.

A sheriff was treated at a Fairfield hospital and later returned to his home.

The negro has been identified as Cleo Merritt, 26, in jail on a charge of burglary.

Mr. Robertson, wife of the sheriff, said her husband had gone up to get the prisoner's plate after he had eaten; that he heard the plate fall, and then the prisoner ran down the stairs and out the door.

Corsicana and Navarro county officers joined in the searching for the escaped prisoner.

After an all-night search, officers reported dogs brought in from Gatesville had lost the trail.

County Tax Roll Shows Increase

The 1950 Navarro county tax rolls show an increase of more than $600,000 as compared with the 1949 rolls, Arnold A. Armstrong, assessor and collector, announced Thursday.

The 1950 roll totals $24,255,340, as compared with $23,622,409 in 1949, an increase of $632,931.

Collection of current ad valorem taxes will begin Monday, October 9, and the assessor's office will be open for the issuance of poll tax receipts and exemptions. A three percent reduction in current ad valorem taxes is allowed for payment in October.

The tax officer said that the tax rolls would be taken to the state comptroller's office in Austin early next week for final approval, but that he had received a "no ahead" order for beginning the collection Monday.

GIVEN FOUR YEARS. AMARILLO, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Ewald Johnson, once tried and acquitted in the sensational Tex Thornton murder case, was sentenced today for stealing Thornton's car. His beautiful 19-year-old wife, Diana, received a four-year sentence also, but was placed on probation.

DALLAS, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The president of Socony-Vacuum Oil Company today urged the government to assist the oil industry more in expanding its production.

The industry needs more than ordinary peacetime economic stimulation to meet the demands of sudden and total war, said B. Brewster Jennings.

Co-Ordination Needed. In a speech at the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, Jennings said "an adequate defense must include the co-ordination of the industrial plant with the military effort. The country which does it most effectively will be the strongest."

Jennings emphasized his dislike for the aircraft industry, for instance, "is active in all sorts of work which would be beyond its financial ability" if based on peacetime conditions alone.

He noted that lack of sufficient alkylate plants is contributing to the fact that "it is extremely difficult to make the present day military grades of aviation gasoline in adequate volume."

Alkylate Shortages. Jennings said this was due primarily to the fact that the aviation gasoline at the end of the World War II required only minor percentages of alkylate, which is derived from crude oil by methods of separation from conventional refining procedures.

The grades of aviation gasoline required today need up to 80 per cent of alkylates, he declared.

He suggested the government co-operate with the industry in a more practicable distribution of alkylate and alkylate feedstock among oil companies and in assuring sufficient steel, pressure tank cars, and other needs.

His speech, followed by a day warning that while there is a short steel supply, oilmen would be expected to continue exploration and development.

"You will not get all the steel you like any time in the near future," Brig. Gen. Robert J. Smith told the association.

Steel Formula Sought To Curb Any Disruptions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The National Production Authority (NPA) looked today for a way to prevent military orders from disrupting the flow of steel to auto and other civilian goods producers.

It hoped that a steel industry "task force" might come up with the formula.

Both NPA and the industry fear that a flood of defense orders bearing the compulsory "do" priority rating may be dumped on a few key steel companies which might thus be washed out of the civilian market.

The "task force" of steel executives has undertaken to draft a proposal under which no individual company would be required to accept priority orders beyond a certain percentage of its total production. The group is expected to recommend shortly a figure in the neighborhood of 20 per cent.

Any priority orders beyond that point would be steered to other companies found to be able to handle them without crippling output for civilian goods.

Along this same line, Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin has recommended immediate plant expansion for defense production instead of general shifting from civilian to military output.

Dogcatcher Job Hindrances Cited

Yankees Grab Second Game

By JACK HAND

SHIBE PARK, Philadelphia, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Well, DiMaggio had a 10th inning home run into the upper left field stands today to give the New York Yankees' Alie Reynolds a 2-1 win over the Phils' Robin Roberts in the second world series game. It was the favored American league's champs' second straight victory in the best four of seven series before 32,660 fans.

Friday game will be played in New York.

The Yankee Clipper's belt, his seventh in nine World Series, broke up a fine battle between the Yankee fire-balling righthander and 24-year-old Roberts, the Phils first 20-game winner since Grover Cleveland Alexander.

The game Phils carried the struggle down to the last out. Pinch-hitter Jack Mayo was on second base with the potential tying run when Reynolds breezed a third strike past DiMaggio's left leg.

DiMaggio's second straight day that Slater had been struck out to end the game.

Although nipped for 10 hits along the route, Roberts was able to hold down so well in the clutch that the Yankees popped up his pitches all afternoon. They didn't hit a ball on the ground until the eighth.

Still Reynolds, with an efficient second strike, saved the Yankees' third straight World Series success. He never had lost one of these big money games in October.

First Inning. Yankees—Woodling beat out a slow bouncer to Hammer between the bases, and in an exchange of catches, Semick made a fine catch of Rizzuto's foul pop near the box seats behind home plate. Berra punched a looping single into short left. Golik backed up on the grass to catch DiMaggio's lazy pop behind second. Woodling attempted to score after the catch but changed his mind and scrambled back to the plate.

Philis—Waitkus rapped sharply to Coleman who threw him out. Ashburn dropped a double into short right-center as Bauer failed in an attempt to make a shoestring.

Pakistan Claims Border Victory

KARACHI, Pakistan, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Pakistan said today it was chasing Afghanistans' forces back to the mountain homes today after a new crossing of this country's northern borders. The shooting followed two days of bickering and some violence between the neighboring countries.

The Defense Ministry said Afghan tribesmen and regular troops had entered Bhandi, some 450 miles north of Karachi, last Saturday and occupied Barga Pass.

The communiqué said the invaders sought to seize the strategic Quetta-Chaman railway in the Khyber Pakhtunkhwa area, but they fell back when Pakistan troops and civil forces, with air support, engaged them at the foot of the pass on Monday.

Reds Continuing To Ignore Demand For Surrender

By RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO, Friday, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Beating down the strongest resistance yet encountered in North Korea, the Korean Republic's Third division Thursday seized Changjon, 60 air miles north of the 38th parallel.

U. S. Eighth Army headquarters estimated that a Red infantry division and a company of Red marines made a stand three miles south of that east-coast town.

All-Day Battle. AP Correspondent William Jordan, with the fast-moving Republican Third division, said the town fell to the South Koreans after an all-day fight. His information evidently was several hours more recent than that at Eighth Army headquarters.

Thirty-five miles south of this deepest penetration of North Korea, the Republican capital division enraged a bypassed force of about 1,200 Reds in the hills west of Hwangju.

The first notable show of Red defense came as a United Nations army of up to 175,000 troops was held south of 38 since the South Koreans yanked down the iron curtain all alone parallel 38 and out Communist resistance in all of Korea.

Forces Ready to Move. The non-Korean allies kept south of the artificial border stood ready to cross and join South Koreans who have already pierced the curtain and probed 60 miles or more into the Communist-ruled north-land.

General MacArthur's headquarters made it clear that all his forces are ready to go into North Korea as needed.

Non-Korean troops had been held south of 38 since the South Koreans stabbed across Sunday.

The question of their crossing from liberated South Korea was considered only as a military issue. General MacArthur's headquarters.

Russian Mine Sinks U. S. Ship In Korea Waters

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The navy announced today the minesweeper Magpie has been sunk by a floating mine near North Korea. Twenty-one men are missing.

It was the third ship to hit a mine in Korea waters. Two destroyers—the Brush and the Mansfield—were damaged by earlier collisions with mines and 11 men on the Brush were killed.

Are Russian-Made. Total casualties from the three ships now stand at 11 killed, 17 injured, and 24 missing.

The ship has said the mines are Russian-made but presumably were sown by North Koreans.

The Magpie hit a mine Sunday near the city of Chuk-san-Dong. Twelve survivors were picked up by a siber ship, the minesweeper Morganer and carried to Fusan, Korea.

The 136-foot wooden hulled Magpie struck the mine on her starboard side and sank about two miles off shore. The commanding officer of the Magpie, Lt. J. G. Warren R. Pearson, is among the missing.

Admiral Forrestal, U. S. navy chief of operations, told a congressional committee last Monday that a "great many" Russian-made floating mines have been found in Korean waters. He said they had been "recently laid and not long out of the storehouse."

Korean Casualties Now Total 20,756

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The defense department notified American families of 20,756 Korean battle casualties through September 29.

This was an increase of 3,536 over the last previously announced total of 17,220 as of September 22.

The cumulative total announced today included 2,660 killed in action, 13,953 wounded and 4,143 missing in action.

294 who died of wounds, raising the number of battle dead to 2,954.

The figure for missing includes 193 men who have returned to military control, 3 known prisoners of war, leaving 3,877 still missing.

MILDRED WMU INSTALLS NEW STAFF OF OFFICERS

Mrs. J. Miller Reed of Blooming Grove, Associational WMU president of District 14, served as installing officer for an impressive installation service at the meeting of the WMU Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Mildred Baptist church.

The meeting was opened with the congregation singing "Let Others See Jesus in You" after which a prayer was offered by Mrs. Frank Kent, and a vocal solo, "He'll Understand and Save Well Done," was presented by Mrs. V. H. Scripps with Mrs. Enos Hutson at the piano.

Mrs. Frank Kent used Scriptural references as background for a devotional message on "Keep Looking Up."

Installation Service
At this point in the program, Mrs. Reed installed the following officers for the coming year:

President, Mrs. John Hagler; Vice-President, Mrs. R. M. Martin; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Merle Sheppard; with Mrs. V. H. Observers Puzzled By Strange Light

A mysterious light was seen in the sky over Corsicana Monday night by Ted Metcalf, Robert E. Lee school teacher, and neighbors in the northern section of the city. It was described as a round light and hovered over the courthouse vicinity for ten minutes after it was seen about 10:45 p. m. and then drifted, floated or was propelled slowly in an easterly direction—and finally was lost from sight about 2:15 a. m. Tuesday when the unknown object came into the path of direct light from the moon.

Metcalf is at a loss to know what the light was—whether it was attached to some weather or meteorological service of the country or to a secret device.

Those seeing the strange light failed to notice anything indicating a motor or propelling force. Meanwhile Metcalf and his neighbors and friends are puzzled over the incident.

TRUE CHRISTIAN LIVING DEMANDS OWN COMMITMENT

All Attempts To Interpret Christianity Apart From Message Of Salvation Fail—Christian Faith Makes Imperious Demands—Therein Lies The Source Of Its Power And Joy

By EARL L. DOUGLASS.

There are many today who believe that a real religious revival has begun to sweep across the world. It has not yet reached tornado proportions. Rather the spiritual stirring is like the rustling of a mounting breeze through the tree branches just before the storm breaks.

There is something very encouraging about these outward signs of a great inner process in men's souls—they seem to spring from the basic and enduring truths of Scripture. In years past many things have been palmed off on us in the name of religion. For one thing we have been told to forget about personal evangelism and to remember that the teachings of Jesus are primarily social in character, and therefore we must try not to save men but to save society.

Old Forms Return. Most encouraging to behold is the change which is again making itself felt in the preaching and teaching. Men are not afraid now to talk about the necessity of personal salvation, about the ugly fact of sin, and about the necessity of surrendering the will to the moving spirit of Jesus Christ. Sunday school lessons therefore on personal commitment to Jesus Christ, which is the theme of next Sunday's lesson—are timely.

By the simple and easy expedient which their loose and un-restrained thinking permits, many deny the necessity of moral struggle. They say that all impulses of the human mind are to be obeyed; that way comes "experience". All that is wrong with this notion is that it is all wrong. The experience of every honest spirit, buttressed by the promises of the world and by the Bible, is that man has a lower nature and a higher; and that when he yields to the lower, his finer qualities become atrophied, his peace is destroyed, and his spiritual power departs. Every day brings its temptation to everybody to live on a meaner level than he knows is possible to his higher nature.

Discipline Imperative. The opening verses of this week's lesson sums it up in the words of Jesus as follows: "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me. For whosoever would save his life shall lose it; and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake shall find it."

Thus Christ cuts across our modern mood of self-indulgence and "self-expression." What would become of our boasted freedom of social readjustments, of greed-ridden economies, of selfish personal and political ambition, were all of us to shoulder Christ's cross and seriously begin to deny ourselves? Self-discipline remains a perennial human need.

In the Scripture passage from Mark, we find Jesus calling His twelve apostles to follow Him. This began the apostolate which today has grown to a countless company, continuing down the ages. One of the curious blunders of modern church life is the assumption by many people that only a new kind of highbrow leadership is competent to carry on Christ's work. It overlooks the fact that Jesus did His work with calloused-handed toilers, redolent of the net and fish. There was not a single highbrow in the group of fishermen friends. Thus began the apostolate which today has grown to a countless company, continuing down the ages.

No, the work of Christ, then and through the centuries, was done by common men, made great by association with Him. This is the wonder of the gospel, always and everywhere, that Christ takes complete without some reference to St. Paul. The passage from Philipians, which Paul wrote during his imprisonment in Rome, gives us the picture of a man facing death with gladness because death, if it comes, will come by way of Christian service and will make it possible for him to be thereafter with the Person in Jesus and serves.

"For me to live in Christ," says Paul, "and to die is gain." Here is human life so intermingled with the divine that one merges into the other.

Try to imagine this spiritual attitude prevalent among any considerable portion of the world's population. What would happen? Home life would be made over. Governments would be run for the benefit of the people instead of for the gain of the office holder. Public morals would be altered. Books, theatrical performances and movies would be sent to the dry cleaners. Wars would cease and a flaming passion for world peace and concord would possess the hearts of long-suffering multitudes.

Let us be sure that Jesus Christ has the only remedy for modern ills. Let us be sure that the commitment to Christ is indeed the world's Saviour is the only policy for human betterment which has any sense to it.

SEVEN SENTENCE SERMONS. Either take Christ into thy life or cast Him out of thy lips; either be what thou seemest or be what thou art.—Dyer.

A single conversation across the table with a wise man is better than ten years' mere study with books.—Chinese Proverb.

Not a truth has to art or to science been given, But brows have ached for it, and souls toiled and striven, And many have striven, and many have failed, And many died, slain by the truth they assailed.—Meredith

We know the truth, not only by reason, but also by the heart.—Pascal.

To me to live is Christ.—Philipians 1:21.

The path of sorrow, and that path alone, Leads to the lands where sorrow is unknown.—Cowper.

Nothing sets a person so much out of the devil's reach as humility.—Edwards.

Services Planned For Black Hills Circuit Churches

Last Sunday was a good day with us on the Black Hills charge. We of the ministry live from one Sabbath to another on hope. We hope that the regular attendance will become more loyal to God and His kingdom, we hope that the sermon and service we rendered the Sabbath before, will reach the hearts of those who attended the services.

Finally, we hope to the coming of Christ's kingdom becomes the food of every true minister's soul, and we are not disappointed all the time, hope becomes slight and faith feeble.

Rev. J. O. Gunter will preach at Black Hills Sunday morning at 11 o'clock as the pastor will be in Ft. Worth to preach at a home coming at Englewood Heights, which he formally was pastor, but will be home in time for the night services at Black Hills.

Don't put it off, but visit with us next Sunday. J. F. Adams.

Largest Slaughters. These are the scale slaughters already known. How many more will be uncovered as the inquiry proceeds can only be estimated, officers said. But if the gruesome ratio holds, places where they expect to find "450 to 500 in ever fair-sized town."

The war crimes investigation section of the judge advocate's division is now between 20 and 30 other major cases are on file but have not yet been investigated. The places and dates were not disclosed.

Along with them there are countless other instances in which the North Koreans killed the members of a single family in a small village.

There are others in which Red troops driven into the mountains came out at night probably looking for food and then killed the residents.

AP Correspondent Stan Swinton reported one such at Changhung near Kunsan which occurred last Monday. In that case the Red army killed only 32 people including children after they took the food.

Five Americans Killed. The Wonsan tragedy reported by AP Correspondent William Jordan apparently was a quasi-military operation when it started. But it quickly became another massacre of civilians.

Jordan said the North Koreans first overran a South Korean command post, killing five American officers along with the South Korean officers. The Reds then turned on the civilians and killed between 1,000 and 2,000.

In most cases, however, the Reds cut down their victims for political reasons, namely, anti-Communism.

AP Correspondent Hal Boyle in Korea reported 150 South Korean civilians and 18 American soldiers were burned to death by the Reds after an unsuspecting UN liberating task force swept through the town of Tongju, about 30 miles north of Taejon.

In Hour's Time. Boyle learned the Communists killed the victims in an hour's time when the liberating force had moved on and other units of the First Cavalry were approaching Conju. A lieutenant told the correspondent the dead may have been shot first, but it looked as though they had been burned to death.

AP Correspondent Ben Price, reporting the discovery of the trench graves at Taejon, said the condition of the bodies indicated the South Koreans were killed deliberately and without haste.

Every war correspondent moving forward with the troops saw the dead and wounded civilians who were shot at the very last moment. The numbers ranged from two or three to 10 to 20.

It will be many months before the whole grisly story is known, American officers in the investigation section said.

The thousands of South Koreans killed in small numbers might push the totals to a staggering figure.

Retaliations Expected. The major cities may yet yield more large-scale horrors.

One officer who reported the Yangpyong killings included in his report the statement:

"It will be extremely difficult to prevent retaliation measures in the future."

AP Correspondent O. H. P. King reported South Koreans and Communists together have killed Seoul area residents possibly to retaliate "several tens of thousands."

American officials who have studied Russian conduct over the years speculated today that Stalin's reaction might be either a propaganda blast at Stassen or a decision to ignore the whole thing and give no reply at all.

The state department to which Stassen sent a copy of his letter immediately after it was dispatched to the Soviet embassy, has made a thorough study of the document and is using it in its "Voice of America" broadcasts to foreign lands including Russia.

Stassen accompanied the copy he sent to the state department by a letter to Secretary of State Acheson. It is understood that he told Acheson he felt he could say things to Stalin which American officials would not be able to say. Acheson, being in New York, had not seen the letter to Stalin prior to its release.

To mop up the remnants, the UN forces waited only for completion of the buildup eastward from the Seoul-Ichon West Coast area and for final decisions on strategy. There was no indication of where the main allied blows would fall or whether they might be amphibious or overland.

named. The seventh place has been left open in the hope that India will accept it.

Post Left for India. India, considered here to be the most influential of the Asian states, had maintained a middle course on the rival plans for Korea. Her representative, Sir Benegal N. Rau, introduced a proposal Wednesday to set up a sub-committee to compromise the eight-nation and Soviet Korean plans.

This was defeated, but many delegations hoped that India would accept the majority will and consent to lend her prestige to the commission. The other members are Australia, Chile, The Netherlands, Pakistan, the Philippines and Turkey.

The Soviet play, defeated 46-5 with eight abstentions, was superficially similar to the majority proposal but was attacked by French Delegate Jean Chauvel as placing North and South Korea on an equal footing and attempting to ignore North Korean aggression and thereby escape its consequences.

Therefore, he said, the resolution was "worthless and impractical." He said the Indian compromise attempt also was impossible because it sought "to combine the practical with the impractical."

The Soviet plan called for a cease-fire which North Korea refused to obey when issued by the Security Council June 25, and withdrawal of foreign troops before taking up the question of the future of Korea.

The political committee also rejected two other Soviet resolutions. They would have called on the U. S. Air Force to cease activity in Korea and would have disbanded the present UN Korean commission.

Acheson Plan Next. The committee then voted to take up on Monday a plan submitted by Acheson which the secretaries' Republican adviser, John Foster Dulles, said was the "logical sequence" following the discussion of Korea.

If would keep the General Assembly on 24-hour alert to meet whenever the Security Council failed to act concerning a threat to the peace. It would also request member nations to earmark part of their armed services for UN duty.

The aim is to provide a force ready to meet future aggression immediately and to prevent Russia from hamstringing anti-aggressive action through use of the veto in the Security Council.

Cisco College To Furnish Bulldogs Grid Opposition

Corsicana Tigers Meet Greenville Friday Evening

Four Corsicana football teams see action this week—three at home and one on the road. At home for the first time this year are the Navarro Bulldogs, who meet the Cisco Junior College crew on Tiger Field Saturday night.

Hard Scrimmage. Wednesday was "head knocking" day at the Navarro Junior College training area, and there was a spirited scrimmage. The Bulldogs went through their hardest day's work of the week in preparation for the Cisco invasion Saturday night.

Cisco will bring a weight edge to Corsicana with them. On that squad are two 230-pound tackles, a 190-pound center, guards at 180 and 185 pounds, and ends at 165 and 180. All that points to a hard night's work for the lighter Bulldogs.

If the Wednesday scrimmage is any indication, the Navarro crew intends to get on the victory trail for the first time this season Saturday night. The defensive crew was putting up stiff opposition, but the offense got through for a number of sizeable gains. Ted Darland was passing and handling the man-under duties well, and Red Earl, Elbert Berry, Jerry Caton and others were picking up consistent yardage on the running plays. James Bradley, Campbell Woodman, Don Granger and others were making it tough for the opposition up in the forward wall. Coach Guyie Akridge conducted a separate line drill prior to the scrimmage.

Some quarters point to the Corsicana Tigers as 60-point favorites over the Greenville crew Friday night in Greenville.

The Hunt county crew is weak this year, it is said, and last week's scappling bee with Palestine left at least two more regulars out for some time, as well as adding a host of minor injuries to the squad. Sophomores and squadmen reportedly will fill in the vacant spots.

Coach Boyd Payne of the Tigers does not intend to get caught napping in the Greenville contest. "We'll have a safe lead before we let up any," he promised this week, adding that an upset would not be impossible and that he expected a harder game from Greenville than is predicted.

Lions Tricky. The Lions are a tricky ball club, and though they lack speed this year, they have deception that can and will be used to its best advantage against Corsicana.

Reserved seat tickets for the Tiger-Lion fracas went on sale at the Corsicana High school office this morning, and will remain there until 1 p. m. Friday. They are priced at $1.20. General admission tickets may be secured at the gate in Greenville.

The Corsicana schedule is open the week end following the Greenville contest, and then the Tigers are at home against Grand Prairie and Waco before hitting the road on Nov. 3 for Waxahatchie. In other 13-AA games Friday Highland Park is at Waco, Denton at Temple, Waxahatchie at Cleburne, Hillsboro at Cartersville and Fort Worth Tech at Ennis.

Former Resident Dies In Beaufort

Mrs. Kathryn Kennedy Coker, 48, former Corsicana resident, died in Beaufort Friday following an illness since June. Funeral services were held in Beaufort Saturday with burial in Magnolia cemetery. Her father was the late Dr. E. P. Kennedy, pastor of the First Baptist church here in the early 1920s. Surviving are her husband, G. D. Coker; a daughter, Mrs. C. H. Pearce; a granddaughter, Shirley Kathryn Pearce, all of Beaufort; mother, Mrs. E. P. Kennedy, Uvalde, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Coker, Billy Coker and Mr. and Mrs. C. S. McClanahan, all of Corsicana, and Mrs. Wm. R. Radford of Mexico, relatives, attended the funeral services.

District 22-B Football Race To Open With Games Friday Evening

Football fans in District 22-B open their conference play in four games to be played Friday night.

Games are scheduled in Hubbard, Bynum, Corsicana and Kerens. All eight teams in the circuit see action.

Blooming Grove, pre-season favorite to take the 1950 title and represent this district in the playoffs, is engaged in what may be the most closely-watched game of the four. The Lions play Hubbard on the Jaguars home field.

State Home, the defending champion, is host at Garlity Field here to Italy, about which little is known except that the Gladiators have not finished the season in the first division since their inclusion in this district several years ago. The game here Friday night should serve two purposes—to ascertain just how much steam the Lions will be able to muster, and just how strong Italy will be this season.

Another closely-watched contest will be played at Kerens, where Dawson engages the Bobcats. Dawson has turned in at least two good performances in non-conference contests, and is slated to finish among the leaders this year. Kerens, always strong, salvaged a close win in its only contest thus far this year. A whirling battle could ensue.

Frost, which has dropped two games thus far against strong opposition, plays Bynum in Hillsboro Friday night. Little is known of the Hill county crew here, but the Polar Bears will be shooting at a win to start the conference season out right.

All the games are slated to be played at night, unless plans have been changed recently.

BANANA TREE BEARS

A three-year-old banana tree, located at the Paul Curry store, 1900 East Fifth Avenue, is bearing a stalk of bananas. It was reported Wednesday. The fruit is still green and has not begun to ripen.

HANDY WAYS TO USE RICE

SWISS STEAK WITH RICE... Hearty main dish...

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor.
Here's a dandy meat-and-rice over dish to serve for a hearty autumn dinner. Good, too, later on when the weather's colder. Accompany the Swiss steak with canned green beans for flavor and color.
Cooked rice is convenient to have in the refrigerator. There are so many ways you can use it. It stretches chicken or tuna salad delightfully; it's wonderful, too, to team with leftovers in a potluck casserole. Or you can use it in muffins or pancake batter for a breakfast treat. Ever try it for dessert coupled with crushed pineapple and folded into sweetened whipped cream? Sprinkle this luscious concoction with finely diced preserved ginger and you have something!

Swiss Steak With Rice.
Ingredients—2 pounds round steak (cut 2 inches thick), 2 teaspoons salt, freshly-ground pepper, 1 clove garlic (if desired), 1 cup flour, 1-4 cup lard, drippings, or shortening, 6 medium-size onions, 1 cup uncooked rice, 2 cups tomatoes (cut in pieces).
Method—Rub 1 teaspoon of the salt and a little pepper into the meat. Dredge with flour and pound thoroughly; turn the meat over and pound in the flour on the other side. Do this until the flour is used up. Put the fat in the bottom of a deep skillet with an even-proof handle, or roaster; slice the onions, add and brown lightly. Remove onions from pan, add meat and brown on both sides. Put the onions back in pan with meat, add remaining salt and more pepper, and enough hot water to nearly cover the meat. Cover the pan tightly and bake in a slow (325°F) oven for about 2 hours. Uncover and add rice. Turn the tomatoes over and continue baking for about another hour or until the meat and rice are tender. Makes 6 servings.

W. W. Fitzgerald Withdraws Appeal

William W. Fitzgerald, given a sentence of from two to five years on a cattle theft charge this summer, has withdrawn his appeal on affidavit and plans to serve the sentence, it was learned Wednesday afternoon.

Fitzgerald gave notice of appeal to the court of criminal appeals and a record was prepared in the case, court attaches reported, and then he decided to accept sentence and filed an affidavit withdrawing the appeal.
An Associated Press dispatch from Austin states that the case had been submitted to that tribunal on affidavit to withdraw appeal.

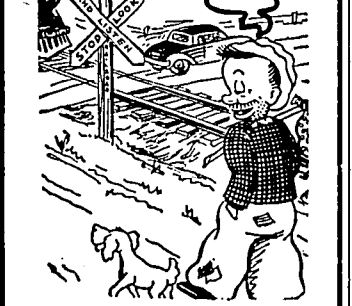

As soon as official announcement of the allowing of the withdrawal, Fitzgerald is expected to be taken to the state penitentiary to serve his sentence.

Valley Studies Swapping Fruit For Swede Homes

HARLINGEN, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Fruit growers in South Texas may swap citrus for Swedish houses.

Citrus growers in the lush and crowded Lower Rio Grande Valley need the houses.

Sweden would like to have the citrus—especially without paying scarce U. S. dollars.

Dickering Four Years. Larry Lightner, Harlingen importer, has been dickering for four years with two young Stockholm men, Lennart Bruce, 31, and Sten Dahlstrom, 34. They represent the John Bruce company of Stockholm.

This week the three brought their proposition before the powerful Texas Citrus and Vegetable Growers Association. Austin Anson, executive manager of the Association said today the deal looks "very promising."

The Swedish houses are not ordinary houses. In precise, almost British English, Bruce says they are "pre-cut and not pre-fabricated."

Individual pieces have built-in interlocking hooks that are tightened by a patented process in which only one tool—a crank-like wrench—is needed. They range from three-room cottages to two-bedroom houses with about 800 square feet of space.

"Something U. S. Needs." Bruce said he was trying to sell the U. S. something it needed, without ECA Red Tape and burdening the nation's taxpayers unnecessarily. He and Lightner agreed the houses are worth about $2,500 each—roughly 1,999 boxes of fruit.

Fruit also may be swapped for tomato and fruit boxes made in Sweden.

"We are not in the housing or box business," said Anson, "but merely are acting as referees in a deal whereby Sweden would find a market for their houses, and we would find another market for our citrus."

Field Registers As Reds' Agent

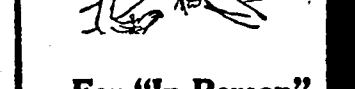

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Frederick Vanderbilt Field, who was cited by the senate for contempt less than two weeks ago, has registered with the justice department as an agent of Communist China financial affairs.

The department disclosed that Field has enrolled as "attorney in fact" for the Bank of China, the China National Aviation Corp. and several Chinese banks.

Field, a wealthy New Yorker, registered under a 1938 act which requires such action by persons representing foreign principals in this country.

He was cited by the senate on Sept. 22 for contempt of congress in refusing to answer a subcommittee's questions as to whether he was a Communist.

A TOWN GOES CRAZY—Homes in the town of Surte, north of Gethenburg, in northern Sweden, lie at crazy angles as they slide toward Goeta river on a giant slab of clay set in motion by weeks of rain. The former site of the town is a canyon 50 feet deep and 600 feet across. About 40 homes toppled into the river. One died and 30 were hurt in the landslide which started early Sept. 29. Home Storage Fluctuation Curb—

Fall And Winter Meat Prices Due To Be Under Control Act Ceilings

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The agricultural department said today the livestock industry probably will provide meat this fall and winter at prices below minimum ceilings set up in the economic controls act.

As the department sees it, meat animal prices for several months to come will be outside the range of authority for price control. There has been no indication that any price controls are contemplated soon.

May End Fluctuations. Along with this forecast of price trends came an indication that the time may not be far off when home refrigerator and freezing units will take the ups and downs out of meat prices.

For years meat prices have fluctuated sharply from low levels during the fall and winter season of heavy marketings to high prices during the late summer.

But now there are enough refrigerator and home freezing units in American homes to influence week-to-week and seasonal demands and prices for meats, the department said.

Its report on current prospects said that farm sales of meat animals are increasing and will continue to increase through the fall and early winter months to enable slaughterers to put more pork, beef and lamb in butcher shops.

These increased supplies of meat, it said, should pull down prices of pork and beef from recent high levels and below price control minimums. Veal and lamb prices may not drop much.

Parity Controls Ceilings. Under the defense production act, price ceilings on farm products can be no lower than parity prices or the highest prices actually received between May 24 and June 24, whichever is higher. Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices. It is declared by law to be equally fair to the farmer and those who buy his products.

In the May 24-June 24 period—the month before fighting started in Korea—prices for beef, cattle, veal and lambs were well above parity, while those for hogs were near parity.

As a consequence, the minimum ceilings for cattle, calves and lambs will be above prices prevailing in the May-June period, and for hogs it would parity. With heavy marketings of meat animals in prospect for the October-January period, the department expects actual prices to be below these levels.

In fact, the department said hog prices may decline 18 to 20 per cent between now and December. Such a decline would put them considerably below parity. In mid-September, hogs were bringing 108 per cent of parity.

Price Uptrend Possible. The department said it is possible, however, that there may be a strong upward trend in prices after the turn of the year, when farm marketings normally decline again.

Looking beyond the immediate prospects, the department warned that the nation's future meat supply is endangered by a new variant of strain of hog cholera in the midwest. It said the disease might get out of control unless farmers followed the department's latest recommendations to vaccinate pigs before they are weaned and to increase serum dosages roughly 50 per cent over regular amounts.

Meat production already is running 11 per cent above last year, reflecting increases in slaughter of both hogs and cattle. Last week production of federally-inspected plants totaled 330,000,000 pounds compared with 296,000,000 in the corresponding week last year.

On the question of the effect of home freeze units on meat prices, the department said that many owners already are stocking up on meats during heavy slaughter seasons when prices are lowest. These consumers need not buy during seasons when prices are high.

As the number of freeze units increases and consumers become aware of the advantages of stocking up when prices are low, the normal price fluctuations will tend to grow smaller and smaller, the department said.

Much Private Storage. The department said surveys indicate that consumers already have storage space for more than one billion pounds of meat. This was said to be 50 per cent more space than that held by commercial concerns. Estimates on the number of home freeze units in use vary from 2,250,000 to 3,000,000. The department said there are 30,000,000 refrigerators in homes, many of which have units for freezing and storing meat and other foods.

The department said there is some evidence that meat prices this summer were influenced by movements to and from home storage.

Japs Grateful For Repatriation Aid

TOKYO, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The Japanese government thanked General MacArthur and the Allied Council for Japan today for their solitude on repatriation of Japanese war prisoners from Russia. The Japanese ministry of foreign affairs said further encouragement is given by the fact the question of the repatriation of some 370,000 prisoners still not accounted for is to be taken up by the General Assembly of the United Nations.

Customers' Corner

Packing your order may sound like a little thing, but our trained employees give it a lot of thought.

They know that it isn't right to place five pounds of flour on top of a quarter pound of butter . . . or to place soap next to cheese.

The men and women of A&P will appreciate it if you will let them have any suggestions as to how they can make a handier package for you to take home.

NEW SOCIAL SECURITY

Nearly ten million persons who previously were excluded from the Social Security System are now under its coverage. What they earn beginning next January can count toward old age retirement benefits for them. But this will not necessarily happen automatically; in most cases the individual worker should do something about it. In the cases of about two million employees of non profit charitable, religious and educational institutions, and of state and local governments, the new coverage is optional. Both the workers and the employers must take steps if they wish to come under Social Security. The other broad groups newly covered are the self-employed except farmers and member of certain professions, hired farm workers and household workers.

It is largely up to the individual worker and his employer to start the new Social Security accounts. The government does not do much about it. The newly covered individual who does not have a Social Security card should get one before the end of this year. He should give his card number to his employer and make sure that the proper tax deductions and payments are started. Although these deductions and payments are mandatory in most cases, the government cannot be depended to start the wheels turning.

The person who does not know where to go for information can find out at the nearest post office. Although the expanded Social Security program is a means by which the government assumes a degree of responsibility for more people's care in old age, the individual still must be self-reliant to the extent of seeing to it that his name gets on the list.

ABDULLAH GOES WESTERN

Once if some bold promoter had asked an Oriental sultan to publish his memoirs, the monarch would have been momentarily struck dumb with amazement. His first coherent remark after recovery would probably have been in order to a slave to get busy with the howstring.

Such days are gone in the Orient, just as they ended in Europe when haughty Kaiser Wilhelm II in his Dutch home of exile consented to get in a little cash by writing his reminiscences of World War I. The memoirs of King Abdullah of Transjordan are now announced for December publication.

King Abdullah is the schrewdest of the rulers who make up the Arab League. Standing for the proclaimed rights of his people, he had nevertheless maintained moderately friendly terms with the Israelis. He may even succeed in his dream of building a great Arab empire, with himself at its head, out of several discordant nations that now comprise the Arab

Edgar A. GuestThe Poet Of The People
(Copyright, 1950, Edgar A. Guest)FREEDOM

These are what freedom holds for man:
The right to do the best he can;
Worship and music, dance and mirth;
The products of the fertile earth;
A life enriched with pride and love;
A mind, content and God above.

These under freedom man can gain:
The wisdom all the books contain,
The skill his chosen task requires;
Achievement of his own desires;
A home held sacred and secure
Which only justice can assure.

"The only under freedom can
A man find ways to be a man.
Where tyrants rule the soul is shriveled.

The body like a beast's is driven.
With every hope and dream
denied,
Man lives a creature terrified.

League

For this impressive plan, as well as for the more prosaic necessity of meeting current expenses, a little Western money is not amiss. That is probably why this absolute Oriental ruler consents to dicker with Western publishers.

BLOOD IN EMERGENCY

If your body suddenly required blood in an emergency, what would your family do? The abrupt, chilling call would go from the hospital to your home: Blood is needed at once; life may depend on it. There is not enough of the correct type in the hospital's blood bank. Donors must be found.

Then, if your situation is like that of most persons, would begin a frantic search for friends able to go at once to the hospital, have their blood typed, and give it, if theirs was found to be right. Didn't the development of blood banks eliminate all this search and anxiety? It has partially done so, but only partially, since the blood bank has its limitations. Before, donors had to be found every time blood was needed. Now the bank takes care of many calls, but not all. There's no way to tell, in advance, whether your hour of need will find the blood bank ready to meet it. Whole blood can be kept for only a fixed, limited time; hence the supply must be in pace with the use. The fact that blood must be of the correct type in each case is another limiting factor.

Sometimes the Red Cross can help, but its blood donor service is occupied chiefly with obtaining blood for military and veterans' hospitals. Individually, a person could reduce his possible problem by joining with several other persons of the same blood type, each pledged to respond instantly to a need of one of the group. It should be possible to organize exchange arrangements among hospitals in an area, so that blood needed by one might come as a matter of practice from the blood bank of another, to be replaced later: We have gone far with this life-saving technique, we should be able to go farther.

$27 A WEEK

It has been figured out by Sen. Edward H. Rees of Kansas that the cost of government in the current year will be $27 a week for every family in the nation. The head of the family, tallying mentally, notes that he does not pay that much in federal taxes, and concludes that the other subjects of federal taxation, corporations and so on, pay part of his bill for him.

That's where he is wrong. Other federal tax payers put part of his family's $27 a week into the federal till, but they only handle the money for him. He pays it; the prices of the things he buys include the rest of his tax load.

Open House For J. W. McClintocks 50th Anniversary

Open house was observed at the home of Mrs. J. W. McClintock Sunday afternoon between four and six o'clock in recognition of their golden wedding anniversary.

Mrs. McClintock was married at Quitman, Wood County, fifty years ago, and have been residents of Navarro County since 1911. Mrs. McClintock was the former Miss Ella Turner, of Waco.

Children of the honorees who participated in the anniversary celebration were their five sons, W. R. and J. R. McClintock of Waco; Haskell and E. W. McClintock of Ft. Worth, and two daughters, Mmes. W. R. Brewster, Jr., of Arlington and Taylor Smith of Ft. Stockton. Members of their respective families were also in attendance.

Among out-of-town guests sharing in the celebration were Mrs. W. R. Brewster of Arlington; Mrs. W. A. Reed of Waco; Mrs. Lula Foster of Houston; Mrs. Kitty French and Mr. and Mrs. Durwood French of Dallas.

Decorative Highlights
Mmes. W. R. Brewster, Jr., of Arlington and Taylor Smith of Ft. Stockton greeted guests, presented them into rooms made gay with golden dahlia and mums that had been sent by admiring friends of Mr. and Mrs. McClintock. A. R. Haskell, McClintock assisted in greeting the two hundred and fifty or more guests as they reached the front porch.

Mrs. John Remonte and H. E. Smalls had charge of the display of anniversary gifts, and Miss Glenn Talley of Waxahachie, a granddaughter of the honorees, supervised the registration of guests. The refreshment table was laid in a linen covered cloth and appointed in crystal and a profusion of tea roses fashioned the point of floral interest.

Smith applied 200 pounds of superphosphate per acre and seeded 20 pounds of vetch per acre. Kessler Bradley, Rice Conservation Group, has planted Thompson Strain Reseeding Crimson Clover on six acres of pasture for pasture improvement and seed production. This Crimson Clover was planted on a well prepared seedbed with the district cultipacker.

R. M. Martin, Eureka Conservation group, has planted twenty acres of vetch and oats for a cover crop and for winter grazing. The seed was drilled into a good seedbed.

Claude Maggard, Embouse Conservation Group, has planted 23 acres of vetch and rye, 200 pounds of superphosphate was added per acre and 18 pounds of seed. All seed was inoculated when planted.

E. H. Vest, Cryer Creek Conservation group, has planted 30 acres of vetch and barley on pasture land. A good seedbed was prepared by discing and harrowing the land and the vetch seed was drilled. The vetch and barley will be used for grazing, soil building and seed production. The vetch will add nitrogen which will help the spread and growth of the Bermuda grass in this field.

Fred Rawlinson, whose farm is three miles southwest of Corsicana, has planted 30 acres of vetch and rye with a combination drill. The vetch was planted on pasture land at the rate of 30 pounds per acre and superphosphate was added at the rate of 200 pounds per acre. The vetch and rye was planted to add fertility, to graze and to produce seed.

Vinson Wants Nation's Reservists To Be Ready To Answer Bugle Call

By RUTH COWAN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.) said today no one—not even a congressman—should hold a commission in the active reserves unless he can be ready to reach for his tin hat when the bugle blows.

Vinson told a reporter he hopes the house armed services committee which he heads will prod the armed services into "screening" their organized reserves.

Weed Out Unfit
His object is to weed out all those not available to fill a uniform when needed—even if they are congressmen, industrialists, prominent names.

He particularly wants the services to set up a method to confer reservists drawing drill pay to the inactive reserve unless they are available for service when called upon.

Why spend money unless we know we are going to get men when we need them? Vinson demanded of Air Force representatives.

He noted that congress appropriates $700,000,000 for a reserve training program. In questioning military representatives during the week he has developed that none of the services has a system by which it can keep tabs on reservist's availability to serve if called.

He noted that since signing up a man may have married, acquired a number of dependents or moved into an essential job.

Vinson's committee has been holding hearings on the armed services manpower needs with a view to suggesting draft act changes to congress when it reconvenes Nov. 27.

In response to his questions, Air Force representatives said that branch had called up 6,893 reserve officers and 50,238 reserve airmen and sent to duty 4,674 officers and 18,702 airmen.

The Air Force said it had deferred 772 officers and 8,411 airmen. Vinson was told that the Air Force transfers a man to the inactive volunteer reserve if he must be deferred longer than six months.

Fighters Needed
But Vinson replied that the services don't know if a man can serve until he is called up.

"What we want is somebody who can do some fighting—do some flying when needed," he said. "Let's quit fooling ourselves that we have got a big reserve."

Vinson said what really has happened is that the reserve "has been filled up with congressmen, federal employees, men in industry, whom you know in case of an emergency you can't use."

1950 Cotton Restrictions Not Affected By New PMA Regulations

The local office of the Production Marketing Administration was notified Thursday that 1950 cotton is still covered by allotment and marketing quotas, regardless of when it is sold.

The state PMA committee said that an Associated Press story on the removal of restrictions on cotton for 1950 stated growers could hold excess cotton produced this year and sell it next year free of penalty.

This is not so, says B. F. Vance, chairman of the state PMA committee. "We have checked this paragraph with the Washington office and have been assured that it was not contained in the secretary's announcement and that it is incorrect," Vance wrote. "None of the penalty provisions of the 1950 cotton marketing quota program are relaxed or rescinded by the announcement on the 1951 crop."

"Non-cooperators cannot avoid 1950 cotton marketing quota penalties by carrying over 1950 crop of cotton for sale at some future date."

The announcement on the 1951 crop means farmers may plant and market the 1951 crop of up-land and long staple varieties without incurring marketing penalties, for-felling conservation practice assistance and without losing eligibility for price support.

Recently Married Couple Feted At Monday Reception

In compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Lee Pearson of Denton, whose marriage took place Sept. 7 in Dallas, a beautifully appointed reception and shower was given Monday evening at Kinsloe House.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Merrill Carson, mother of the bridegroom, and Mrs. J. M. Burson, his grandmother. Approximately 200 guests called. They were greeted by Mrs. O. Albritton.

In the receiving line were the hostesses, Mmes. Carson and Burson; the honored couple, Mr. and Mrs. Pearson; Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Dennis, parents of the bride, and O. L. Albritton. White gladioli were used in a profusion to decorate the reception rooms.

White plume mums and pink angel lilies were combined in an effective centerpiece for the bride's table, laid in a lined banquet cloth. Gardenias encircled the tiered pink and white wedding cake and further adorned the table, which also held a crystal punch service.

Miss Mary Frances DeGeorge served punch. Alternating at the cake were Misses Marceline Steelman and Ann Shrader. Misses Margaret Johnson and Betty Jordan assisted with plates and napkins.

Mmes. Clyde Johnson and Estelle Skelton, pianists, furnished a musical background for the occasion.

Mrs. Earl Brunken of Dallas and Mrs. C. J. Adams of Fort Worth assisted in receiving and displaying shower gifts. Mrs. Earl Morton of Tampa, Fla., registered the guests. Mmes. Adams and Morton are sisters of the bridegroom. Misses Peggy Harwell and Sandra Rutherford also assisted.

Out-of-town guests for the occasion included W. T. Price, grandfather of the bride, and Mrs. G. S. Holman, aunt of the bride, both of Lawton, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Evans, uncle and aunt of the bride; Oklahoma City, Okla.; Mrs. M. M. Young and Richard Young, Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Morton, Tampa; Mrs. Adams and sons, Fort Worth; Mrs. R. R. Gilbert, Mrs. Jack Gillespie, Mrs. George Crumley, Miss Louise Crumley, Mr. and Mrs. Brunken and Mrs. Eva Coombs, all of Dallas.

For the reception the bride was dressed in a bridal white formal length gown with bare shoulder decollete, fitted bodice and full-skirted skirt. She carried a hand corsage of purple orchids.
